Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. It would be of great assistance to the Office if all incoming papers pertaining to a filed application carried the following items:

1. Application number (checked for accuracy, including series code and serial no.).
2. Group art unit number (copied from most recent Office communication).
3. Filing date.
4. Name of the examiner who prepared the most recent Office action.
5. Title of invention.
6. Confirmation number (See MPEP § 503).

The allowability of claims 3 and 11 has been withdrawn. Examiner regrets for the delay of the examination.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: in claim 3, after the word "selector for" ---receiving – should be added. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 3 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bakhmutsky (5,686,916).
5. Bakhmutsky discloses a receiver for receiving a signal comprising: a predicator and a block length selector (22) for receiving channel state information about a state of the communication channel and for selecting block lengths; an interface for receiving the signal from the communication channel; and a decoder (VLD1-VLDn) for receiving the signal from the interface and the schedule of block length produced by the block length selector (22), and for decoding the signal using the schedule of block length. (See fig.2 and col.4, lines 2-32).

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 3 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fielder et al (6,226,608).

Fielder discloses a receiver for receiving a signal comprising: a predicator and a block length selector (65, generates a control signal that conveys the length segments based on the information received about the audio information) for receiving channel state information about a state of the communication channel and for selecting block lengths; an interface (63) for receiving the signal from the communication channel; and a decoder (70) for receiving the signal (64) from the interface and the schedule of block length (67) produced by the block length selector (65), and for decoding the signal using the schedule of block length.(see fig.4 and col. 10, lines 25-50).

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 4 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. Claims 6 and 9 are allowed.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. JP-10-224228 is cited to show a variable length decoder and a code length selector Bakhmutsky (5,990,812) is cited to show programmable variable length decoder. Sugiyama et al (5,235,623) is cited to show adaptive transform coding by selecting optimum block lengths according to variations between successive blocks.
